Methodists to Observe Student Day this Sunday

Sunday will be observed in Methodist churches throughout the nation as Methodist Student Day (formerly Children's Day). The local First Methodist church, Rev. Clarence E. Miller, minister, will observe the day with emphasis upon the present day need of educated Christian leadership.

"The Methodist Church has always believed in a close relationship of education and religion." The church is the mother of many of our greatest universities and colleges, and the requirements in academic training for the Methodist ministry equals that of other leading professions, according to Rev. Miller.

For many years Methodist churches throughout the nation have taken special offerings for "The Methodist Loan Fund," which has helped hundreds of worthy students through college. At the present time not only loans are available to worthy students, but more than 500 selected students receive substantial scholarships each year.

The sermon theme for Sunday morning will be, "The Student and His Church." The morning service of the Methodist church begins at 10:50 a.m., preceded by the Sunday school for all ages beginning at 9:30 a. m. The Methodist Youth Fellowship meets in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. A nursery with adult supervision is provided during the morning service for infants and young children.

LETTERS to the Editor

Torrance, Calif. June 2, 1951.
Editor, Torrance Press:
Doesn't our non-resident secretary of the Chamber of Commerce know that there are two newspapers in town? I am one of 40,000 of your readers who does know it.

I got a brochure the other day sent out by the Chamber which praised to the skies one newspaper as the "heartbeat" of the city, but it didn't mention your newspaper at all.

I wonder if the taxpayers had to pay for that brochure, and if they did, they are not being treated right in that case. Just a common, ordinary slight.

But you can take it. Keep up the good work. We know who the real "heartbeat" in the community is. Yours is the newspaper with the "Voice of the People."

Best wishes,
J. H. H.

Torrance, California, June 3, 1951
Editor, Torrance Press:
Congratulations on your fine

editorial on "Boomerang Dollars."
You know, I did not stop to realize how much money spent here means to me and my family until I read that.

I told the wife that the next time she thinks of shopping up town, to give me the list and I'll find it in Torrance.

She agreed. We own a home, and it means something for us to have a better city.

Very truly,
C. O. T.

Editor, Torrance Press:
